Welcome to this edition of The Mardler. What a wash-out our summer has been so far! With the never-ending rain, as well as the cold (jumpers had to be worn - in July!), I was amazed that the sunshine came out for the Pink Ladies Tractor Run - for a little while, anyway. Let us hope that August and September make up for it, and we can finally enjoy our great outdoors. August tends to be a quieter month socially as many of us head off for our summer breaks, but there are still events happening in our communities, so please support where you can. We are always on the lookout for images showcasing the sights and nature of our local area that we can use for our front cover. So, if you happen to have anything on your phones or cameras, please email them in to us, we would love to see them.

Get creative with the Summer Reading Challenge

Children can get creative with this year's Summer Reading Challenge, Marvelous Makers, which launches in Norfolk libraries on Saturday 6 July. The Summer Reading Challenge is a FREE holiday activity for children aged 4-11. It's all about reading for fun, aiming to improve children's reading skills and confidence. Children can read anything they like (really – anything!) and collect free rewards for their reading. For under 5s there is a mini challenge, so they don't miss out. Just pop into your local library or visit www.norfolk.gov.uk/summerreadingchallenge to sign up. Children will need to be library members - you can do this in a library or online. It's free of charge and children will receive their own library card for which there are no overdue fees.

This year's Challenge is all about creativity. From dance to drawing, junk modelling to music, there's something for everyone! Children will be able to find new reads linked to their favorite creative arts and join in with free activities at their local library. Search for Norfolk Libraries to find out what's on in your local branch.

Waveney Volunteers for Nature

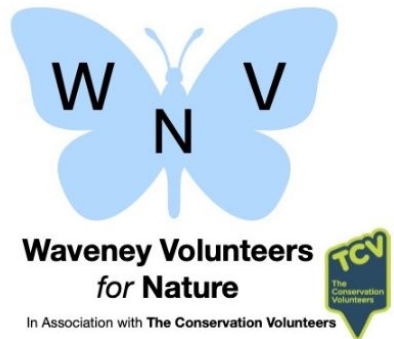

Our Family Day on 29th June, mentioned in the previous Mardler, was a great success. Even the weather was perfect! The afternoon was spent on Foredale Common and in the adjoining Waveney Heritage Centre. Children had a great choice of activities and things to interest them, from mud pie making, bug hunting, cuddling rescued bunnies and seeing the skulls of many wildlife creatures. Walks and talks were arranged to introduce everyone to the history and hidden treasures of both our Commons, whilst the Heritage Centre provided a BBQ and refreshments. We were supported by the Norfolk Wildlife Trust, The River Waveney Trust, Foxwood Forest School, Roots Activities, Robert Maidstone and Quaker Wood. We also received a large number of great local wildlife photographs which created a most colourful exhibition. All in all, we had a wonderful and entertaining afternoon.

The Family Day demonstrated what a positive and fun-loving group we are. As I always say: if you would like to join us in our conservation work or support us in any way then please contact us at:

WVfNature@protonmail.com. It only costs £10 to join.

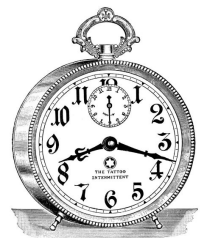

Looking to the future, we are contributing to the Local Nature Recovery Strategy being prepared by Norfolk County Council and doing our best to ensure that it results in giving all organisations like ours the best chance of helping nature recover from the effects of climate change.

What is Past?

There are four things that cannot be recalled.
An arrow that has left the bow.
An opportunity that was neglected.
A word that has been spoken and a life that has been lived.
And if one could be recalled, how would you change it?

The Black Water Lilies

By Michel Bussi

I always enjoy books that are set in locations known to me. After a memorable visit to Monet's garden and the beautiful village of Giverny I was recommended this book by a colleague.

Translated from the original French, the language is occasionally a little clumsy but can also be fittingly poetic and impressionistic. The descriptions of the watery farmlands, the flowery gardens that surround the old cottages, the winding back lanes and the mysterious old mill did not disappoint. It is not necessary to know Monet's work to enjoy this intriguing tale; however it does help to inform the frequent references to water lilies, and way in which we form impressions of events or characters, only for it to look completely different when we look closer.

The story begins with the discovery of the body of a local man in the river, so could be described as a crime thriller, but I do not think this book fits easily into that category. The plot revolves around the search for a missing Monet masterpiece, The Black Water Lilies of the title. We are introduced to three women, a gifted young girl eager to develop her talent, the local school teacher trapped in an unhappy marriage, and the all-seeing old woman barely noticed by her neighbours. They each appear to have some connection to the dead man, but there are secrets and mysteries everywhere. The narrative easily engages our sympathy for the main characters, but the feeling of impending doom that seems to surround each of them is unsettling. The twist at the end of the novel is completely unexpected, and cleverly done, I found it surprisingly satisfying. I hope you do too!

Jokes

5. Why are pianos so hard to open? All the keys are inside

A message from Councillor Martin Wilby

Norfolk County Council has been appointed by Arts Council England to lead both the Norfolk and Suffolk Music Hub from September 2024, as part of an ambitious national programme to provide high-quality music education for all children and young people. NCC's Music Service has led the Norfolk Music Hub, a partnership of organisations and schools which engage with children and young people in music making, since 2012. As the new Hub Lead Organisation for both counties, NCC will receive just over £2m from the DfE to coordinate music education, plus £661,967 to invest in new musical instruments, equipment and technology tailored to the needs of children and young people in Norfolk including those with special educational needs and disabilities.

Five children in Norfolk come into care every week and Norfolk County Council is calling for more people to come forward to give them a loving home. There are more than 1,200 children in care in Norfolk and although numbers have stabilised in recent years, the council needs more carers to provide stability and safety for the children it looks after. The council is urging more people to consider fostering and encourage more businesses to become Fostering Friendly Employers. Fostering Friendly Employers support their staff by giving them flexibility to take their foster child to medical appointments, attend parent evenings and sports day, or to work from home if the child is sick. NCC has recently become accredited as a Fostering Friendly Employer, and has 30 employees who are also Foster Carers. To find out more, please contact our dedicated team at www.norfolk.gov.uk/fosteringandadoption, or call 01603 306649.

Four Norfolk teenagers have been officially inaugurated as the county's new Members of Youth Parliament (MYPs) at a special ceremony held by NCC. Norfolk Youth Parliament helps young people to have a voice on the future of Norfolk and make a positive difference in their local community. Working with regional MPs and local Norfolk councillors, the young leaders will represent their peers and advocate for important issues such as education, mental health and climate change. The new MYP for South Norfolk is Beau Berwick. All of the MYPs are aged between 13 and 18, were selected through a rigorous process that included applications, interviews and public voting. Their passion for public service and dedication to their communities stood out throughout the selection process.

A message from Councillor Martin Wilby

A cooperation agreement has been signed between NCC and the Ukrainian region of Lviv which is designed to explore knowledge transfer, educational exchange and trade opportunities. The historic Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) was signed at the Ukrainian Embassy in London by the leader of NCC Kay Mason Billig, and in Lviv via video link by Maksym Kozytskyi, Head of the Lviv Regional Military Administration. It is the first such agreement to be signed with Lviv by any part of the UK. Norfolk and Lviv have identified several key opportunities for collaborative working, including the TechBridge programme, a strategic partnership between the UK Government, Ukraine Ministry of Digital Transformation and Ukraine Ministry of Foreign Affairs, to forge connections between our tech ecosystems.

Best Wishes

Martin

Late Summer

August, the time to sit back and enjoy the evenings in the garden. Earlier sunsets mean buzzy bugs. Make your own insect repellent jars. You will need a jam jar, shells or pebbles, lemon peel, rosemary, and citronella essential oil.

Arrange a few shells or pebbles in the base of the jar. Pour water into the jar until two thirds full. Drop in the lemon peel, rosemary sprigs and a few drops of oil, and stir gently. Put in a floating tea light then light. The scent will keep flying insects away.

September is the time to think about planting spring bulbs such as daffs, crocuses and hyacinths in the ground before the end of the month, so they can settle in and develop roots before winter. Plant them in sun or part-shade in well drained soil, or in compost in pots. Don't be too eager to snip off seed heads as flowers fade. Their different shapes and sizes can give a new dimension to the garden. They can also provide food and shelter for wildlife. For example, blackbirds and others will flock to rose hips.

Ramblings from The Rectory

By Rev. Nigel Tuffnell

August and then September are usually warm months that many consider the end of summer. For me, August, with its harvest abundance, marks the start of autumn, the “season of mists and mellow fruitfulness”, described by the poet Keats. Whether late summer or early autumn, for me it is a time for holidays, weddings and for catching up. A time for bike rides in the warmth. I am also very aware that for my farming friends, August is the exact opposite, a time of frantic activity from dawn until dusk and beyond. I will remember their hard work, but I’m still going to enjoy the slightly more restful month of August before I get into the busy joy of Harvest Festivals.

As I write this article, I have just had my annual Ministerial Review. One of the priorities agreed was for me to carve out a little time away from the parishes for prayer and reflection. I plan to take a few days, to read the books that I should have read, study and reflect. I hope to dream too. I hope to dream of what could be here in Harleston for the Church. What could we do better?

Most of all I plan to ponder the question “How can we love more?” You see, Jesus’ only commandment was to love. For people in the Church, we are to love one another. Notice that does not mean that we have to always agree with each other, or even like each other. But we do have to care for and love one another. That is a big ask, and that is why I want to take some time to figure out how we can love more.

I hope that by the end of it all I will have enjoyed some sunshine and had great ideas. I wish the same for you all. Happy August!

God bless,

Nigel

Brockdish Church

The North Wall has had its final coat of lime wash. A further grant has been achieved towards the cost of the roof repairs, so things are looking promising. The hedge and drive edges have been cut. A huge thank you to Andrew and Richard Longe for supplying the material and for filling in the potholes on the drive.

Let us enjoy the summer while we can!
